The introduction of the new coinage system will involve some changes in the initial accounts maintained in the treasuries. The following instructions are therefore issued in consultation with the Finance Department, Government of Mysore, incorporating the main changes that have so far been contemplated. The rules contained in the Mysore Financial Code and the Mysore Treasury Code should be treated as modified to such extent, as would follow from these instructions. The Treasury Officers under your charges may kindly be instructed to study these instructions carefully and to see that they are followed strictly.

1. From the 1st April 1957, the date of introduction of the new coinage system, all accounts (initial as well as compiled) should be maintained in terms of Rupees and Naye Paise instead of in Rupees, annas and pies as hitherto, although both the existing and new types of coins will be in circulation simultaneously for some time. All challans in support of money tendered in payment of Government dues and all bills and cheques for withdrawal of moneys should therefore be expressed in the new coinage, that is, in Rupees and Naya Paise. Till the forms of bills, challans and other books of account are revised to provide two columns to show Rupees (Rs.) and Naya Paise (NP) separately, the existing forms in which the money columns now contain three sub-columns for record of the amount in Rupees, annas and pies will however continue to be used by suitably modifying the headings of the last two sub-columns which at present provide for regard of annas and pies, for recording in future Naya Paise in terms of new coinage, subject to the instructions contained in paragraph 4 below, the total amount of each bill, challan, as well as the amounts in pay orders, etc., should be expressed in decimal system, the following standard method of expressing amounts in new coinage in figures being adopted:—

- (1) Rupees twenty-five and five naye paise—as Rs. 25'05 (not Rs. 25'5).
- (2) Rupees twenty-five and fifty naye paise—as Rs. 25'50 (not Rs. 25'5).
- (3) Rupees fifty-five and eighty-three naye paise—as Rs. 55'83.
- (4) Fifty naye paise as Rs. 0'50.

Note :—1. A similar method should also be adopted when the amounts are posted in forms providing for separate columns for Rupees and Naye Paise. Thus in posting an amount of Rupees twenty-five and five Naye Paise, 25 will be entered in the Rs. column and 05 in the Naye Paise column.

2. Amounts expressed in annas and pies should, before posting in accounts books and forms be converted into whole numbers of Naye Paise according to the conversion table.

2. With a view to keeping down to the inevitable minimum the period of transition during which both the existing and decimal coins would circulate as legal tender, it has been decided that the withdrawal of existing coins should start on or immediately after 1st April 1957 and that the coins of the denominations of 2 annas and under will be withdrawn first, as decimal coins of 10 Naye Paise and below only will be put to circulation in sufficient quantities at the initial stages. In order to achieve this object, moneys tendered in payment of Government dues in whatever currency it is made, should be accepted in treasuries, but all payments of dues by Government should be made only in new coins, as far as possible. On occasions, however, when the stock of new coins runs short, disbursements may be made in existing coins also. With appropriate planning of the requirements of the new coins, it should not be very difficult to keep down such occasions for disbursement in old coins to the minimum. The old coins which are withdrawn from circulation, should be transferred to the small coin depot, if one is established at the treasury or held in the treasury balance in separate boxes pending remittance to the Mints.

3. So long as the existing annas and pies coins continue to be legal tender and both types of coins remain in circulation, there may arise a difference between the book balance and the actual physical cash due to conversion of one type to the other in the individual items and in the total. For instance, in payment of dues of 12 Naye Paise,

2 annas of the existing coins may be tendered. Two such transactions will represent in the accounts, twenty four Naye Paise (2 annas is equal to 12 Naye Paise and 2 two annas are equal to 24 Naye Paise) whereas actual total cash received will represent 25 Naye Paise. (Four annas = 25 Naye Paise). The difference of one Naye Paise will be a gain to Government due to conversion. On the other hand if, in payment of two dues of 19 and 5 Naye Paise respectively, three annas and three fourth annas are tendered actual cash received will represent in the accounts in total one Naye Paise less than the total dues. (Three annas 9 = pies 23 Naye Paise according to the conversion table).

These losses or gains on conversion in respect of both State and Central transactions will be accommodated under a separate minor head styled "Loss or Gain in conversion to decimal Coinage" to be opened in the Central Section of the accounts under the head "S. Deposits and Advances Part IV Suspense Suspense Account." While the loss or gain on account of Central Governments transactions will be directly debited or credited in the Central Section under the suspense head, such loss or gain on account of transactions accounted for in the State Section will be taken to the appropriate side in the Central Section of the accounts by the operations of the head "Adjusting Account between Central and State Government." The manner in which this loss or gain has to be calculated is indicated in paragraph 4 below.

4. In order to determine from the accounts the amount due to loss or gain on conversion it will be necessary to exhibit in the accounts distinctly all items of receipts and payments which are tendered or made in the existing currency in the manner indicated below :—

This question will not affect Government accounts where treasury business is conducted by the Bank. All the losses or gains due to conversion will be in the books of the Bank, and the Reserve Bank and its agency banks have agreed to adjust in their books the loss/profit on conversion arising from receipts and payments of Government account in the same manner at the loss/profit arising out of their own transactions.

The Treasurer's/Shroff's cash book, which at present records the receipts and payments chronologically as they occur in a single money column will, from the appointed date, be in three columns in both the receipts and payments sides. All items of receipts and payments as shown in the challans and in payment orders recorded on the bills or cheques will be incorporated in the first money column in terms of Rupees and Naye Paise. In cases where the actual money tendered includes existing coins the amount tendered in such coins shall be noted in the second money column in terms of Rupees, annas and pies. The third money column will show the equivalent of the amount in the second column converted into the new coinage and expressed in Rupees and Naye Paise. Taking for example that in depositing Government dues of Rs. 5 29 the actual amount tendered includes, amongst other coins, existing coins of the total value of Rupee one and annas fifteen consisting of one eight anna piece, one four anna piece, eight two anna pieces and two one anna pieces and 4 Pice pieces, the entry in the 3 columns will be as indicated below :—

Column I	Column II	Column III
Rs. N.P.	Rs. a. p.	Rs. N.P.
5 29	1 15 0	1 94

The difference between the totals of the first money columns on the receipts and payments side at the end of the day will show book balance with the Treasurer or Shroff which shall have to be reconciled with the actual cash balance in his custody. The details of the old coins received and paid in respect of each transaction should be noted in a subsidiary register in Form I appended to this circular. The value of the old coins for the day in the subsidiary register should tally with the net closing balance of money column II of the Treasurer's or Shroff's cash book. After the totals of columns II and III on the receipts side of the Treasurer's or Shroff's cash book have been struck, the amount of the total in column II should be converted into the new coinage and recorded in Rupees and Naye Paise below the total of column III on that side. The difference will represent the loss or gain by conversion of sums tendered in old coins on Government Accounts. The resultant total loss or gain by conversion during the day will be added to or subtracted from the total in column I. There should ordinarily be no payments in old coins of 2 annas and under on or after the 1st April 1957. If, however, any payments are rendered necessary, the amount thereof as also payments in half and quarter rupee coins should similarly be entered in Column II and their decimal equivalents in Column III on the payments side, and the loss or gain on conversion should be worked out at the end of the day and added to/subtracted from the total in Column I. This will reconcile the book balance with the actual cash balance. This sum will also be incorporated by the Head Accountant or Nagadi Gumasta in his cash book under the Head "Loss on gain or conversion to Decimal Coinage" subordinate to "S. Deposits and Advances Part IV Suspense—Suspense Accounts" referred to in para 3 above. This will enable the Treasurers or Shroff's and the Head Accountant's or Nagadi Gumasta's balance sheets to be agreed when the accounts for the day may be treated as closed.

5. (i) In the case of stamps, Deposits of Local Funds, Civil Deposits, etc., in respect of which the treasuries keep balanced accounts and furnish plus and minus memoranda of the transactions to this office, the opening balances as on 1st April 1957 will be expressed in terms of both the existing and the Decimal coinages in the relevant registers, before entering the transactions of April 1957. The conversion at that stage should be confined to the opening balances figuring in the Subsidiary registers or the plus and minus memoranda and should not be extended to individual items.

The treasuries need not however effect any adjustment in the treasury accounts in respect of the loss or gain resulting from such alterations as this would not affect the treasury balances.

(2) Some of the Bank Treasuries in the State are making payments of pensions and Savings Bank amounts out of the imprests sanctioned to them. In respect of these payments, the instructions contained in the circular addressed to Heads of Departments, etc., should be followed. The receipts and payments on account of these transactions should be incorporated in a cash book maintained in a single money column as at present but in terms of Rupees and Naye Paise. When in respect of any item of receipt and payment the actual money tendered includes present coins the amount as tendered should be incorporated in a subsidiary register in Form II appended to this circular.

6. The amounts specified in Rupees, annas and pies in financial sanctions, rules, orders, notifications, contracts, deeds or other enactments should under Section 14 (3) of the Coinage (Amendment) Act 1955 be automatically construed as expressed in terms of equivalent value under the decimal system without any rounding off. Rounding off should be made only at the stage when actual payment or tender of money takes place. In the case of all letters of authority (including P.P.O., Pay slip, etc.) where amounts are expressed in the present coinage, the disbursing officers shall insert in red ink the corresponding amount in the new currency below the original amount in the letters of authority, sanctions, etc.

7. Any point of doubt may be referred to this Office for clarification.

8. The receipt of this letter may please be acknowledged.

Yours faithfully,

B. VENKATARAMAN,

Deputy Accountant General.

Sub.—Introduction of Decimal System of Coinage.

Sir

It has been decided by the Government of India that the decimal system of coinage should be introduced with effect from 1st April 1957. The introduction of the new coinage system will involve some changes in the initial accounts maintained in the Departmental Offices. The following instructions issued in consultation with the Finance Department, Government of Mysore, incorporate the main changes that have so far been contemplated and the rules contained in the Mysore Financial Code and the Mysore Treasury Code should be treated as modified to such extent as would follow from these instructions. These instructions may be noted carefully and given effect to from the appointed day.

1. From 1st April 1957, the day of introduction of the new coinage system, all accounts (initial as well as compiled) should be maintained in terms of Rupees and Naye Paise instead of in Rupees, annas and pies as hitherto, although both the existing and new types of coins will be in circulation simultaneously for some time. All challans in support of money tendered in payment of Government dues and all bills or cheques for withdrawal of money also should be expressed in Rupees and Naye Paise. Till the forms of bills, challans and other books of account are revised, to provide two columns to show Rupees (Rs.) and Naye Paise (NP) separately, the existing forms and books in which the money columns now contain three sub-columns for record of the amount in Rupees, annas and pies, will however continue to be used by suitably modifying the headings of the last two sub-columns which at present provide for record of annas and pies for recording in future Naye Paise in terms of new coinage. The total amount of each bill, challan, pay orders, etc., should be expressed in decimal system, the following standard method of expressing amounts in new coinage in figures being adopted:—

- (i) Rupees twenty-five and five naye paise, as Rs. 25'05 (not Rs. 25'5).
- (ii) Rupees twenty-five and fifty naye paise, as Rs. 25'50 (not Rs. 25'5).
- (iii) Rupees fifty-five and eighty three naye paise, as Rs. 55'83.
- (iv) Fifty naye paise, as Rs. 0'50.

Note —1. A similar method should also be adopted when the amounts are posted in forms providing for separate columns for Rupees and Naye Paise. Thus, in posting an amount of Rupees twenty-five and five naye paise, 25 will be entered in the Rs. column and 0'5 in the Naye Paise Column.

2. Amounts expressed in annas and pies should before posting in account books and forms be converted into whole numbers of Naye Paise according to the conversion table.

2. The withdrawal of existing coins will start immediately on or after 1st April 1957, and the coins of the denominations of 2 annas and under will be withdrawn first as decimal coins of 10 Naye Paise and below only will be put to circulation in sufficient quantities at the initial stages. Moneys tendered in payment of Government dues in whatever currency it is made will be accepted in treasuries and other offices entrusted with receipt of Government dues but payments of Government dues should, as far as possible, be made only in new coins. On occasions, however, when the stock of new coins in a treasury or other disbursing office runs short, disbursements may be made in existing coins too. It is desirable that necessary steps in advance should be taken by you to have sufficient stock of decimal coins of the denomination of 10 Naye Paise and below so that payments by you to individuals may be made from 1st April 1957 in decimal coins. The existing coins in your possession on 1st April 1957, and those to be received by you subsequently should be got exchanged at the Reserve Bank of India, the State Bank of India, Bank of Mysore Limited or at the treasury at convenient intervals. In cases, however when such exchange is not possible, it may be necessary to conduct business in existing coins also. When in respect of any item of receipt and payment the actual money tendered includes present coins the amount as tendered should be incorporated in a subsidiary register in Form II appended to this circular. The Cash Book should however be maintained in a single column only as at present, but in terms of Rupees and Naye Paise.

3. Opening balances under Debt, Deposit and Remittance, etc. Heads in the books of your office will have to be converted into new denomination before entering them into the ledger or any other register, schedule or return as on the appointed day. The individual items which work up to the total balance in such ledgers, etc., shall also be similarly converted into the new coinage and recorded in red ink just below the original figure.

4. The amount specified in rupees, annas and pies in financial sanctions, rules, orders, notifications, contracts, deeds or other enactments would, under Section 14 (3) of the Coinage (Amendment) Act, 1955 be automatically construed as expressed in terms of equivalent value under the decimal system without any rounding off. Rounding off should be made only at the stage when actual payment or tender of money takes place. Thus in agreements, enactments, etc., where rates are specified, the rounding off should be made only in respect of the total amount payable or receivable in a single transaction. The disbursing officers shall insert in red ink the corresponding amount in the new currency below the original amount in the letters of authority and sanctions, etc.
